“The Emperor’s New Clothes”

The Emperor’s New Clothes is the VPW Children’s Theatre production for 2005-06.

A vain emperor desires a new wardrobe every day. Two cunning travelers and a child teach him a lesson on vanity and honesty. The classic story by Hans Christian Andersen is set in ancient Japan and offers humor and excitement.

This delightful comedy is performed as a touring show by the Village Playhouse of Wauwatosa. Directed by James Lentz, Jr.

President's Corner

The Pink Panther Strikes Again is another successful fall show that has come to pass. This hilarious show was well-received by all who saw it as evidenced by the sound of so much laughter from the audience. Many accolades must go to the talented cast but, especially, our multi-talented director, James Lentz Jr., who wore many hats to pull the show together. THANK YOU, JAMES!

Our next venture at Sharon Lynne Wilson Center will be the 21st year of VPW's Wisconsin Playwrights Original One Act Play Festival. Last year's run was very successful so we are extending our shows to run thru an entire weekend. The dates are March 17,18,19 and 24,25,26.

Our 2006 summer show is slated to be "School House Rock". Our Producer is Larry Beckley and directors will soon be announced.

VPW really needs the help of all members to be involved with these shows, if we are to continue to thrive. Please see your way to be there with us. We need YOU!

Evvie Smith – VPW President
